ENDANGERED SPECIES

Endangered species are those plants and animals that are in danger of extinction. There are degrees of endangerment: critically endangered, threatened species, and rare species. Extinction is a very normal process in the evolution of animals and plants. The causes can be related to survival, climate, and human intervention. Survival relates to how an animal can live and reproduce in an environment. If the conditions become unlivable, then the species will become extinct. When climate changes occur, less rain for example, a species may not be able to adapt well enough to that new habitat. Human intervention includes chemical pollution, destruction of habitats, or exploitation of plants and animals for food and other products.

The Right to Health

All individuals are entitled to a minimum standard of health. The right to health has been included in documents such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities. However, the right to health is interpreted and applied in different ways in every country depending on certain conditions such as the definition, the minimum rights that are included, and the institutions that are responsible for ensuring this right.
All people have the right to health as established in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, but how the right is interpreted and applied depends on the conditions of every country.

Blanca: Accepting differences helps us live in harmony.
Paola: I agree with you. However, there are a lot of people in our country who don´t accept differences. The Colombian Constitution states that "Colombia has ethnic, cultural, linguistic and religious diversity" but most of us don't respect the characteristics of others.
Blanca: As Mr. Rodríguez said in class, we have to start in our homes and classrooms. We need to set some rules among us to recognize the other.
Paola: Actually, in our class we have agreed to not bully people who use piercings and tattoos. The reason for this is that for some piercings and tattoos are related to drug addiction. So, bullying is not allowed in our class.
Blanca: Excellent idea! We have to start with things like these actions.

Susi: I agree, we need to think more about the consequences of what we do.

At the end, the author says that following netiquette rules is important to have effective communication."

Tech News

Safe Social Networking

Facebook, Instagram, Snapchat, and Twitter are among the most frequently used social networks. These sites expand rapidly. Young people use social networks to communicate among them. However, the use of these networks has its risks.

First, people can be vulnerable when they publish their locations and what they are doing all the time. People you do not know can get your personal information easily. They can harm you. I suggest that people avoid doing this.

Second, once your pictures go into cyberspace, they always remain. Pictures can be used to bully you or your family. People should not post pictures that others can use against them. Choose your photos carefully.

Finally, to keep social networking safe, everyone must do their part. Do not give too much information about you and don't post inappropriate photos.
